

Unbelievable

Music: ?Matt Knell – Reseirs historian?

Content and Purpose: Looks at how the devil tears apart relationships, but God restores them, and defeats the devil

Cast: 4 people (3 male, 1 female) – God, Devil, Man, Woman

Props:

Starting positions: God on chair, couple – arms round each other, looking happy + couply + inseparable, grinning to God

Music	Actions
‘Questions’	Devil (red waistcoat) tries to pull couple apart, between shoulders – can’t do it
	Decides to seduce Woman – grabs her arm, pulls her seductively towards him
‘Things to say’	Turns her round and shows her what’s wrong with bloke – ‘You don’t want him’ – disapproving look
‘You’re unbelievable’	Pushes her back to bloke – she goes back to bloke, disses his clothes, you’re a mess
Guitar	Start arguing
Bass change	Devil provides chairs, and both sit down facing each other, Devil eggs them on – they start arguing in middle Devil turns them round so that they are both facing front, arms folded, looking stern. They argue again Turn back to back, still arguing
‘unbelievable’	Both stand up – backs to each other in defiance, chairs removed Girl turns round, taps bloke on shoulder Bloke slaps girl (toc – move away) Girl goes to corner and sulks, head in hands Guy in other corner, angry
Loads of lyrics	God taps Devil on shoulder BIG FIGHT Devil knocks God out – counting for ten At 9, God grasps hands and pushes Devil down and out God puts arm round girl, back to centre, then round bloke, to centre
‘...unbelievable’	Joins them back together, God looking omnipotent on chair

Comments and Notes: The original which I got this from was a photocopy of a handwritten piece. In places it wasn’t clear what it said, so try it, and feel free to change stuff if it doesn’t work.